Longest:

Offbeat-nik performance artists Dom Casual and Bella Hagen are the darlings of a San Francisco open mic night. They also struggle with personal issues that – whether they realize it or not – fuel their art. Bella never confronted the heartache of abandoning her dream of being a showgirl like her mother, Sparkle (“the poor thing didn’t get my height!”); Dom has yet to come to terms with his homosexuality. When a Hollywood television executive offers them a shot at commercial success, Dom & Bella fall into an existential schism between keeping it real in San Francisco or selling out in Los Angeles in this story about art, berets and finding your muse.
